Hope Mounts for Release of Prisoners

By GEORGE ARFIELD
HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro "shares negotiators' high hopes" for a quick exchange of 1,113 Bay of Pigs prisoners for U.S. food and medicines, an official of a committee of prisoners' mothers said today.

This informant said conversation was very favorable in a new round of talks begun Tuesday night between Castro and a negotiating team led by New York attorney James B. Donovan.

Relatives of the prisoners hope they will be freed by Christmas. The committee official said Mrs. Berta Barreto of Havana, one of the four negotiators, was told by telephone this morning: "Tell your husband your son will soon be free."

The official said Donovan might issue a statement some time tonight.

Parents and relatives received authority today, for the first time in seven months, to send clothing and food to the prisoners.

Time Out on High Policy at Nassau

By FRANK CORMIER
NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — President Kennedy popped in at a cocktail party Tuesday night while Prime Minister Macmillan dropped in on a barbecue and drank beer.

Nassau's reception for the two world leaders also included a calypso salute at the beach barbecue.

Kennedy wasn't there, but the British prime minister smiled and studied the printed lyrics as calypso singer Count Bernadino sang:

"Welcome, welcome Macmillan and Kennedy.
"Your visit to Nassau will go down in history."
The social forays by Kennedy and Macmillan were unscheduled. Kennedy ventured forth first, making a handshaking circuit of the guests at a poolside cocktail party given for correspondents covering the conference. The President stayed about 10 minutes.

Macmillan turned up nearly two hours later at a barbecue on the white sands of the Emerald Beach Hotel, where many members of the official parties and newsmen are staying.

He watched native dancers enact a couple of playlets called "Stone Cold Dead in the Market" and "She Killed Nobody But Her Husband."

The climax came when Count Bernadino sang his special calypso:

"To Mr. Kennedy greetings and salutation.
"For the way you handled the Cuban situation.
"Is the President of the United States you've given the whole world aid.
"—hope some day you buy Castro a razor blade."
The count had these words for Macmillan:

"We salute you and England and all your Cabinet.
"And wish you good luck with the Common Market.
"Nassau wishes you the best in every discussion you have.
"I am so happy you didn't bring Khrushchev."

Report on Men Injured In Explosion

A check with attendants at a local hospital this morning concerning the three men who were injured in the explosion of the press at Southern Plasmoid Corporation Tuesday morning disclosed that Ben Rice was transferred to Texarkana and put under the care of a bone surgeon. Mr. Rice suffered a broken left arm, dislocated left shoulder and second degree steam burns about the face and body.

Floyd Chance received second degree burns and a fractured pelvis. He is reported as progressing very well but will remain a hospital patient for some time.

Bobby McKamie was discharged late Tuesday afternoon following treatment for minor burns and shock.

Officials at Southern Plasmoid said that no immediate estimate of the loss was available this morning. Company officials said yesterday that production would not be curtailed by the blast.

Calls Hoffa 'Portrait of a Payoff'

By GAVIN SCOTT
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Chief prosecutor James F. Neal described Teamster President James R. Hoffa's conspiracy trial today as a "portrait of a payoff."

In opening the summation, Neal told the U.S. District Court jury of five women and seven men:

"What you have seen here in the last 8½ weeks is a portrait of a payoff. It had to be painted stroke by stroke as the payoff matured slowly from a humble beginning."

Neal, a Justice Department attorney from Washington, said the alleged conspiracy "was clear and subtle."

Hoffa is accused of accepting cooed payments from a Detroit auto-transport firm as a bribe for labor peace. Neal said the whole arrangement "was nothing but a sham" to make it look like a regular business deal.

Judge William E. Miller allotted each side 3½ hours for arguments and said the case should reach the jury Friday. Defense arguments are scheduled Thursday.

Hoffa is accused in a two-count indictment of conspiring to violate the Taft-Hartley Act by using his union influence to set up a profitable truck leasing business. This act prohibits a labor leader from accepting payments from a company whose employees he represents.

Famed Pair Turn Out to Be Only Wax

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — World War I air aces Eddie Rickenbacker and Frank Luke flew into Phoenix from Los Angeles aboard a jet airliner Tuesday.

Stewardess Sandra Redd of El Paso, Tex., blushed after offering the men a drink. The passengers were made of wax.

They were on their way to a Scottsdale, Ariz., wax museum from Josephine Toussard studios in London where they were created.

Luke, a native of Phoenix, died in combat in 1918.

Rickenbacker, America's top ace in the war, lives in Columbus, Ohio.

Navigation Satellite Is Failing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy's Transit 5A satellite is failing in its primary mission of supplying data for navigation aid to ships, officials said today.

The satellite was rocketed aloft Tuesday from Point Arguello, Calif., with a brilliance visible for hundreds of miles.

Dr. Richard B. Kershner, supervisor of space development for the Johns Hopkins Applied Physics Laboratory, said the satellite was in excellent orbit, but that its radio receiver had failed to work on the first five attempts to transmit data to the satellite.

Kershner indicated he held only faint hope that the receiver would start working later.

The laboratory developed the navigation system for the Navy. The Transit 5A satellite was supposed to have been the first operational satellite in a system of four such vehicles. It was designed to help ships and submarines determine their positions more accurately.

Transit 5A now will be useful as a test vehicle, but not as a fully operational satellite, Kershner said.

The scientist said that this was the first time in the whole program in which the relatively simple radio command system has failed to work.

Without the command system information cannot be sent up for storing in the memory system of the satellite, nor can the stabilization devices on the vehicle, designed to orient it toward earth, be started.

Kershner expressed confidence that the new navigational system will be in working order sometime in 1963, with four of the satellites in orbit and transmitting signals.

Launching of the satellite provided a spectacular show along the West Coast.

Uninsured Drivers May Pay Penalty

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A law that would require uninsured Arkansas motorists to pay $20 a year to the state was approved by the Legislative Council's insurance committee Tuesday.

The money would be used to reimburse insurance companies for claims they pay policy holders for damages caused by the uninsured motorists.

Rep. Sterling Cockrill Jr. of Pulaski County, author of the measure, said the fee charged the uninsured motorist would only be a permit to operate a car without liability insurance.

His plan would also require every automobile liability policy to have uninsured motorist coverage, but would give the buyer the right to reject it.

Cockrill said his bill would encourage citizens to voluntarily buy automobile liability insurance and would penalize persons who are not financial for accidents they might cause.

The measure was backed by the Arkansas Association of Insurance Agents, but did not meet the complete approval of some firms represented at the committee meeting.

Howard Cockrill of Little Rock, stock insurance company representative, said the proposal would create a state fund by making the state serve as a collection agent for the fee money.

Others objected that the bill would put the state in the insurance business.

Howard Cockrill said insurance companies could not make a profit if such a bill were passed.

"It has been the experience of other states with similar laws to lose money," he said. Virginia, he added, lost $1.5 million last year under a similar program.

The state Revenue Department, he said, would have to do the paper work involved. Rep. Cockrill said he felt an appropriation of $25,000 for two years would pay for the work.

Bob Owens of Little Rock, state manager for Farm Mutual Insurance Co., said he thought Arkansas was "getting along pretty well without an uninsured motorists bill." He suggested that the financial responsibility law of the state be enforced by state police.

But Rep. Cockrill termed this "political dynamite."

"Suppose a state policeman came in a county and took the drivers license of an influential person—that person would hate the guy that made it possible for the policeman to do this," he added. "That's one reason politicians haven't tried to enforce it."

Several insurance company representatives, including Owens said their firms have been offering a type of uninsured motorist coverage for several years with good results.

Owens said "We feel that competition will make the benefits better and see no need for a law regulating it."

Uninsured motorist insurance would cover the drive of an automobile who was in an accident with another car whose driver was not insured.

The representatives also predicted an increase in insurance costs under the proposal, saying the firms would have to hire additional personnel to cope with the paperwork necessary in enforcing the law.

Survival of Press Issue in New York

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City's nine daily newspapers, closed in a labor dispute, said today they are faced with the question of survival in negotiations with their striking printers.

The strike, stripping the city of all its major papers, has gone on for 12 days.

In a statement, issued as federal mediators met separately with both sides, the publishers said there must be a settlement that permits them to stay in business and preserve the jobs of their 20,000 employees.

A private, newly formed Citizens Newspaper Committee appealed to President Kennedy and other officials to bring "every possible pressure to restore the daily newspapers to the people."

The appeal also went to New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Mayor Robert F. Wagner and to both the publishers and striking International Typographical Union.

The publishers, in their statement, said they have offered benefits to the union which, if applied to all employees, would increase their costs by $9 million annually.

The publishers have offered printers a $4.25 increase in wages and benefits over the first year, plus the fourth week of vacation.

The printers have demanded an $18.45 weekly increase, and other benefits that publishers say would amount to $38 weekly extra cost per man.

The 3,000-member ITU local struck Dec. 8.

As a result of the blackout, nearly 20,000 employees went idle on the Times, Herald Tribune, News, Mirror, Post, Journal-American, World-Telegram & Sun, Long Island Star-Journal and Long Island Press. The Press continues to publish its Long Island editions but not its city editions.

A strike by the Mailers Union shut down the city's major dailies for 19 days four years ago, also during the Christmas season.

NEW YORK (AP) — The Central Arkansas Milk Producers Association (CAMP) sought Tuesday, at a hearing before the Agriculture Department, renewal of a USDA marketing order on prices of Class I milk in mid-Arkansas.

No one opposed the request, which would maintain milk prices in the area at present levels. A minimum price that processors must pay to milk producers is set by the order.

The mid-Arkansas price has been set at the level of the Memphis market since 1955. The price varies from month to month. Dairies at Little Rock this month are paying $5.08 per hundred pounds. The current USDA marketing order expires Feb. 28.

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Sen. William Benton of Connecticut back from a trip to the Soviet Union, reports the Soviets are building a vast new "science city" deep in Siberia. He calls it "one of the most extraordinary scientific centers in the world."

Writing in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post, Benton center, with 16 separate scientific institutes and designed to house 50,000 research workers "is a striking symbol of the Soviet intellectual challenge to the West."

He said the center is the first of several which the Soviet Union plans to build across Siberia. He said it could be matched in this country only if the theoretical research departments of several universities were combined with research divisions of several industrial giants.

Benton, publisher of Encyclopedia Britannica, said he was the first American to see the new center in operation.

McClellan Is en Route to Washington

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., was to return to Washington today following a series of appearances in the state.

In an interview Tuesday McClellan said he thought the biggest issue in the 88th Congress would be "taxation and deficit spending."

An overall reduction in taxes, he said, should be accompanied by a reduction in federal spending. And he predicted more probes by his Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations.

Two of the investigations, he said, were in the fields of racketeering. He declined to identify the probes, but said "one of these investigations will be especially important if it materializes as I envision it may. If we can break through and get the information we need, I think it will be very important."

The senator declined comment on the Hot Springs gambling situation and speculation that attempts will be made to get gambling legalized in Arkansas.

"I am not in the state legislature and neither am I governor," he said. "I don't think I should comment."

One of McClellan's last appearances in the state was on a television show in Little Rock Tuesday, where he received an award from the Investors' Union of America, Inc.

Steve Stahl, executive trustee of the newly formed organization, headquartered at Oklahoma City, said McClellan was the first of some 100 persons to be honored.

McClellan received a certificate of merit "for dedication to constitutional government, fiscal responsibility and freedom of the individual as evidenced by his record in the 87th Congress."

'Phone Firm Is Given Rate Hike

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Ozark United Telephone Co. gained permission from the Public Service Commission Tuesday to raise rates in the rural areas it serves in the vicinity of Altus, Alma and Ozark. About 170 subscribers protested the increase, which had been pending since Aug. 17, 1961. The firm was authorized to raise the charge for a residential phone from $2.50 to $4.25 a month. Business rates would go from $3.50 to $5.25 monthly. Ozark said improvements would be made to its system.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — An apparent low bid of $399,606 was submitted Tuesday by the Mississippi Valley Engineering and Construction Company of Memphis for construction of revetments and dikes at Trulock Bend on the Arkansas River, 12 miles southeast of Pine Bluff.

Army Engineers, who opened the bids, had estimated the project would cost $421,000. The work will be on both sides of the river in an area two miles in length.

Predicts Record Holiday Death Toll

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic accidents during the long Christmas holiday, the National Safety Council estimates, may kill between 650 and 750 persons and cause disabling injuries to between 27,000 and 33,000 others.

The council's estimates cover the 102-hour holiday period from 6 p. m., local time, Friday, Dec. 21 to midnight Dec. 25.

The council said Monday that during a comparable nonholiday period at this time of year, 470 persons are killed and 20,000 suffer disabling injuries.

The record traffic death toll for any holiday period was the four-day Christmas period of 1956 when 706 persons lost their lives in highway accidents. In last year's three-day Christmas holiday, traffic deaths totaled 524.

The nation's traffic death toll in the first 10 months this year, averaged 110 a day for a total of 33,430, a record high for any single 10-month period.

JFK, Macmillan Discuss The Congo Crisis

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — President Kennedy confronted Prime Minister Macmillan today with the possibility of a dangerous new Soviet-sparked crisis in Africa's Congo.

The U.S. and British government chiefs plunged into two days of study of complex cold war problems under a cloud of gloom generated by a deep British American controversy over the future of the Skybolt missile.

U.S. leaders reportedly feel there is a very real danger of a renewed Soviet thrust into the Congo should the crisis generated by the secession of rich Katanga Province lead to the collapse of the moderate Leopoldville government.

The British did not appear to be as concerned as their American allies about the Congo prospects. One of Kennedy's aims at this meeting in this sun-splashed British island resort was to emphasize to Macmillan U.S. views of what might be done to defend the Congo against any new Soviet attempt at penetration.

A U.N. spokesman announced Tuesday night that the United States is sending an eight-man military mission headed by Lt. Gen. Louis W. Truman, a cousin of former President Harry S. Truman, to the Congo to survey the military needs of the U.N. force there prior to the supplying of more American equipment to the U.N. troops.

U.S. government sources here said Truman's mission would survey not only the equipment situation but also the political situation.

May Deduct Cuban Drugs From Taxes

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy administration is considering giving drug manufacturers a $25-million tax deduction on medicines donated for the proposed Cuban prisoner exchange.

Administration sources said that if this deduction is granted, it would be based on the wholesale value of drugs assembled for shipment to Cuba if Fidel Castro released 1,113 captives of the ill-fated 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion. The retail value of the drugs is $52 million.

The tax deduction proposal was worked out within the administration after key members of Congress had made it clear they would not go along with the direct use of federal funds for the payment of what they called ransom.

Previously the administration had unsuccessfully sought clearance of influential members of the House and Senate appropriations committee to put up $13.5 million in available Central Intelligence Agency funds to pay for medical supplies.

It was stressed in administration quarters that the tax deduction proposal awaits final, official approval.

Among other things, a ruling will be required by the Internal Revenue Service that the contributions are deductible.

It is the assumption in Washington that Castro will accept the retail price of the drugs as payment against the $62 million he has demanded for the release of the prisoners. Food could make up the remainder.

The Cuban Families Committee has raised an undisclosed amount of funds.

The administration has taken pains to conceal the extent of its role in attempting to win release of the prisoners.

The official line has been, as President Kennedy told his news conference last week, that a private committee was handling the matter and he was "sympathetic" with its objectives. Nobody familiar with the details thinks, however, that the tax deduction suggestion originated with the drug manufacturers.

Training clothing would leave by Wednesday at the latest for the Isle of Pines penitentiary, where part of the captives are confined. The rest are held in Principe Prison, a colonial castle in Havana.

Castro's regime issued no communiqué and Havana newspapers carried no details on the talks, but informants said government circles considered the exchange was "in the bag."

Large stores of donated drugs and food were being assembled near Miami, Fla., in case the exchange goes through.

Donovan, who arranged the trade of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers for Russian spy Rudolph Abel early this year, arrived Tuesday on a third trip to Havana in his effort to effect the release of the Cubans captured in the invasion of April 1961.

With him were Alvarez Sanchez and Mrs. Virginia Belmont, officials of the Cuban Families Committee, composed of prisoners' relatives.

"They went to the home of Mrs. Berta Barreto, another negotiator and soon after Castro summoned them."

Mrs. Barreto said the prisoners may be freed soon — "God willing."

Sources close to the negotiators said the prisoners, if freed, probably will be flown to Miami in chartered planes.

Castro donated $62 million for their liberty but agreed later to take food and medicine instead of cash.

Havana relatives of the prisoners perked up on hearing reports from the United States of the shipment of tons of supplies to Opa-Locka airfield near Miami.

The reports included these details: Castro demanded $23 million worth of drugs, $6 million in equipment, $9.5 million in powdered milk and $14.5 million in baby foods. He supplied long lists of the drugs wanted. This totals only $53 million at manufacturers' list prices, but Donovan said some time ago Castro could put his own value on the stocks.

It was understood the prisoners would be released on delivery of 20 per cent of the amount demanded and a pledge for the balance.

The Air Transport Association, an organization of aviation executives, said eight domestic airlines were cooperating to transport 600,000 pounds of supplies to Opa-Locka at the request of the Red Cross.

Eight trucking firms were moving 420,000 pounds of supplies to Opa-Locka free of charge.

The 435-foot freighter African Pilot, loaned by the Farrell Lines to the Red Cross, was steaming to Port Everglades, Fla., to pick up the load if the exchange is completed. Fifteen shipping companies had combined to finance the water transportation.

Paul Willis, president of the Grocery Manufacturers Association, said his organization had taken charge of soliciting food from manufacturers and "the response has been very generous."

The Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association coordinated drug donations.

tion but also the whole military prospect. These sources did not exclude the possibility that in an extreme crisis the Kennedy administration would consider sending American forces to the Congo. There was some speculation in the corridors here that one purpose of the U.S. move was to warn Moscow the U.S. government is alert to all possibilities in the Congo and ready for any eventuality.

The President and the prime minister met informally for an hour Tuesday afternoon, more or less in preparation for their breakfast meetings today and Thursday.

Earlier the two leaders conferred with their aides on matters to be discussed. These include the future of the Skybolt missile.

Britain has hatched her nuclear deterrent hopes on American development of the Skybolt, a long-range missile designed to be fired from bombers at targets a thousand miles away. President Kennedy has indicated he has decided against continuing development of the missile because of test failures so far and the prospective cost.

He is said to acknowledge Britain needs some alternative to the missile, and a search for that is part of his purpose here.

Kennedy, U.S. sources say, regards this meeting with the British leader as the most important of all the six he has had with Macmillan since he was elected president.

The reason for this is not only the urgency of the Skybolt problem—which is threatening Macmillan's political position at home—but also because of the whole range of pressing cold war problems.

The Kennedy-Macmillan discussions also will touch on such subjects as the Soviet-Rutch Chinese rift, the Chinese-Indian conflict, various problems of the NATO alliance, including the attitude of France and the growing sentiment for an independent European nuclear potential, the meaning of Soviet economic troubles, and problems involving the European Common Market.

Denies Source for Article

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Bundy, special presidential assistant for national security affairs, says he was not the source of information for a magazine article that set off the Adlai Stevenson controversy.

The former Harvard dean has figured in press speculation as a possible source for a Saturday Evening Post article portraying the U.N. ambassador as having dissented from the National Security Council's consensus in favor of imposing an arms blockade around Cuba.

In a television interview Sunday night, Bundy said "—don't think anyone who participated in the policy decision would want to get into the business of talking with reporters or others and discussing the individual positions taken during that time of great tension and great danger by individual members of the group."

"I certainly would not want to do so and have not done so, and I know of no member who has," he said.

The article was written by two Washington newsmen Charles Bartlett and Stewart Alsop.

MAN ON THE SKEWBALD MARE

By Nelson C. Nye

Illustrated by Margaret Sawyer

XXI

Behind Rafe, with a panicked snort, Bathsheba slammed into the pack horse. Squealing and kicking, the animal was knocked off its feet, the wall of its whimper wildly diving through space as the mare, in a scramble of hoofs and loose rock, tore down the backtrails as if she were going downhill on wheels.

With his belly squeezed flat against the wall's rotten rock Rafe listened to the racking of rifles being emptied so close he wondered why they didn't take the top of his head off.

In such a defening bedlam there wasn't much chance for scuffing the wrinkles out of plans gone to pot. Like some rattled brain he'd come bumbling right into Spangler's trap, and none of the things that were flapping inside him even remotely held out much hope.

The guns had quieted but their clamor was still cater-wauling and tumbling around through the gulches. Left a foot against the face of the cliff, Rafe knew better than to imagine the man responsible was about to go off without a good look around.

His bunch was listening, stretching their ears to lay hold of Rafe's whereabouts. The stillness thrummed like a toothache.

Then someone said, "He's probably piled up down at the bottom with their brones."

Spangler growled: "I wouldn't bet on it. That hombre's got more lives than a cat! Get some brush stacked along the edge here."

It was hard for Rafe to stay where he was, never moving a finger, while his carbine got heavier and time inexorably moved nearer to the moment when inevitably they would find him. Yet to move was to bring the whole pack lurching.

He scarcely dared breathe with Spangler standing right over him. The oldest trick in the book, so ancient it had whiskers. With careful pressure infinitesimally applied a rounded stone from the wall came loose in his fingers and, with a silent prayer, he tossed it into the black that had swallowed his pack horse.

About the time he was ready to burst from held breath a rattle came up off the rocks far below. Flame streaked out of the dark above him. The crew came running.

"You see him?" Duke cried.

Spangler, not answering, said "Get that brush blazin'."

"Ain't no brush," grumbled one of the others. "Couldn't find any."

"Get some of that dead grass then."

"Think you got him?" That was Duke again.

"We're stayin' right here until we know for sure."

Even if he could have found one Rafe wouldn't have risked plopping another rock down there. He thought of taking off his boots and trying to ease back down the trail, but the hazards looked worse than the risk of remaining. Right now these men thought he was down there. Boots clomped again.

"Brill!" Spangler growled, "you and Pentris light them grass twigs. Rest of us'll clobber anything that moves."

A fine kettle of fish! Rafe reflected, inwardly growling. His fingers were giving him plenty of ache in this 20 degree drop in temperature that often, in the thin air at this altitude, came with the bull hats and cricket chirps accompanying full dark.

With a jumpy care he passed the carbine from aching right hand to cramping left, flexed the emptied fingers and dug out his belt gun.

It came to him then, with a crochety wonder, there must be a heap more behind what was happening than anyone so far had seen fit to mention. All this over a bunch of stolen brones! It just didn't seem natural. Not even the land—big as maybe it was, looked important enough to inspire so many divers and dead-end interest on the part of so many incompatible elements. man's own kin telling him straight to his face they didn't know him.

It wasn't so dark now. The rim stood out against a brightening glow. He braced himself, pistol lifting, belatedly remembering a number of things he had meant to take care of but never got around to, also fleetingly thinking with regret of things he might better never have put his hand to. Wisps of blazing grass came down, twisting and swirling as the fire ate into them, and hats appeared along the lip of the rim, the barrels of rifles with the light skittering off them.

But there weren't any shots. And Rafe, suddenly trembling, lowered his six-shooter, limp with the shock of execution postponed.

The why of it was evident, as he peered up with his mouth open. It wasn't lack of initiative on the part of Spangler's gunnies that found him still breathing. Rafe was alive because sight was forced to travel in a straight line. The rim overhung Rafe's placement by a good arm's stretch. Even with the burning grass pushing the dark back the rim's lip concealed him.

Everything Nowadays Expensive

By PHYLLIS BATTLE

NEW YORK — Everything these days is more expensive.

Take being a boy scout. "Used to be they tied knots and rubbed flints together," reports a dear friend whose 12-year-old son was, for two weeks, a tenderfoot. "But the scouts have learned to adjust to the times. Now it's almost as though Lord Baden-Powell was an advance man for Abercrombie & Fitch."

Our friend, whom we shall call Smith because that's his name, described the experience.

"Living in Midtown Manhattan, we never gave a thought to the boy scouts. For the rural communities, we figured. For the suburbs. But not for New York City. But we'd underestimated the boy scouts of America."

"This is Tom Trudgem talking," a voice on the phone advised us last summer, "Scoutmaster of troop 505, which includes your son Randy's school. We'd like him to join." A letter followed.

"Have you thought of your son following with his mind's eye the covered wagons on a trek across our continent? Haven't you dreamed of having him hike the wilderness trail sworn down upon moccasins hundreds of years ago?"

"Well, as a matter of fact, we had. Every Saturday morning. About 8 o'clock."

"It looked great — country, fresh air, Sunshine. Leadership. Comradeship. We signed up."

"In the mail came the forms. Three-page deal on medical history was the doctor was impressed. 'When shall I book him into Mayo?'" He inquired. We told him to answer what he could.

"Couple nights later, the phone rang. It was platoon leader Nick Rosycheek of the 'Silver Fox Patrol.' Could Randy go on a day-hike Saturday? The thought of being able to sleep late Saturday nearly overcame us with tears, but we kept our voice under control as we said yes. What will he need?"

"Be prepared," said the leader. We noted down the requirements. A knapsack. A mess kit. Food for two meals (one hot.) A Poncho. An aluminum trowel. A cake of regular soap. A cake of brown soap. A towel. A whistle. Insect repellent. Flashlight, extra batteries and bulbs. First aid kit ($3 size). Notebook and pencil. Plastic bags for specimens. Waterproof matches. Canteen. Compass. Candle. Wrist watch. Fifth foot of rope. Roll of binder twine. Nails. Raincoat, cap, rubbers or overshoes. Hiking boots. And $3.80 for carfare and spending money.

"Randy could wait until later for the special uniform and equipment for overnight trips, they told us."

"Much relieved, as you can imagine, that Randy was to be away only a day, we rose early on Saturday and packed up his goodies (sneaking a lighter into the knapsack in case he hadn't done a good job of waterproofing his matches.) It was 5:30 a.m. as we piled into a taxi to take him to his rendezvous with the troop under the marquee at the RKO 86th street, and watched the boys off.

Where did they go to hike? Southampton, of course. Every body who's anybody hikes at Southampton.

"They came home by cab."

"The next week we had other hints that Randy was not quite wealthy enough for the new breed of cit-based elegant scout. Kept buying things — compass, pen knife, stopwatch, $10 for a new tent, $5 for a meeting at the N.Y. athletic club, $3 for membership at the Sutton Pool, $24 for two books of chances for Randy to sell 'cause the troop needed a portable radio receiving and sending unit."

"We began to imagine things—Randy earning merit badges for taxi-trapping, waiter-calling and celebrity identification. Picnic lunches packed by the stock club. Hikes from bowling green to Central Park, with bivouacs at the College Bands Honor U.A. Man

CHICAGO (AP) — Richard A. Worthington of the University of Arkansas was named president of the Southwest Division of the College Band Directors National Association Tuesday. Keith Wilson, director of bands at Yale University, New Haven, Conn., was named president of the association. The terms are for the 1962-1964 biennium.

The highest natural elevation on Manhattan Island is 260 feet. Irrigation in Arizona is at least 1,000 years old.

Banker's club and Sardi's.

"So if you know anyone who wants a Yuccapack, Poncho, aluminum mess kit, handy knife-fork-spoon set, in ultra-smart leather case, we'll sell them cheap. 'I'm afraid we're not up to the 'Silver Fox Patrol.' If you hear of a 'fuzzy muskrat' troop, take us to their leader..."

Rev. Sutton of Memphis Car Victim

MEMPHIS (AP) — The Rev. Otto Sutton, 49, well-known Memphis Baptist leader and pastor of Trinity Baptist church here, was killed Tuesday in a traffic accident in suburban Whitehaven.

Sutton died shortly after he was taken to a hospital with head and internal injuries.

Deputies said Sutton's small foreign-made car struck the side of a truck at an intersection. Sutton was thrown from the car and a rear wheel of the truck ran over him, the officers said.

Sutton was a native of Gurdon, Arkansas and was an outstanding boxer and football player during his high school days. He gave up his engineering studies when he was 22 to become a minister. He came to Memphis in 1950 as pastor of Trinity Church.

Bride-Elect Honored At Morning Coffee

Miss Sue Moore, bride-elect of Kenneth Gilliam, was the guest of honor at a morning coffee on Thursday, December 13 at Mrs. Jewel Moore, Jr.'s home with Mrs. Dick Moore, co-hostess.

Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Manuel Hamm. The honoree wore a blue silk dress and pinned a Christmas corsage with white wedding bells on it at her shoulder. Similar corsages were worn by Mrs. Norman Moore, mother of the bride-elect, and Mrs. Guy Basye, mother of her fiancé.

The house was lovely with Yuletide decorations and those fitting for a bride-elect. One arrangement was of white garlands and white grapes in brass. Poinsettias and greenery were seen elsewhere.

The serving table was overlaid with a green cloth centered with red carnations in a silver, epergne. Mrs. C. Cook and Mrs. H. A. Spraggins served the coffee and delicious tidbits to about 25 guests.

The DeAnn Lilac Garden Club had a Christmas party Dec. 13 at Mrs. Jewel Burke's house with Mrs. C. R. Samuel, co-hostess. Green and silver decorations with red lights graced the home.

Mrs. Burke read the Christmas story found in Luke 2:1-21, and Mrs. Samuel closed with prayer. The group joined in singing "Silent Night," and each told "What Christmas Means to Me."

Door wreaths were brought by the club, and Mrs. Roy Burke was the one who took first prize when they were judged. After an exchange of gifts, candy, cookies, nuts, and spiced tea were served to nine members and two little guests, Toni and Dennis Burke.

Mrs. H. E. Luck Host To Rock Club

On Friday, Dec. 14 the Rock Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. H. E. Luck with Mrs. J. C. Carlton and Mrs. G. B. Hughes assisting in the duties of hostess.

Unusual Christmas tree ornaments were life-like birds, and on the buffet was an oriental arrangement featuring holly, a large candle, red silk balls, and a Japanese container.

Mrs. Ray Allen, president, had charge of the business meeting. As part of a Garden Club Therapy Project, the members decided to take a gift, fruit or cookies to Mrs. Allen's home by Wednesday, Dec. 19 for distribution at the Hope Nursing Home.

For the program, Mrs. Steve Bader told the gardeners' part in Christmas Joy. Mrs. Harry Shiver, assisted by Mrs. F. C. Crow and Mrs. H. O. Kyler, told about Christmas customs in other lands.

The 20 present included a club guest, Mrs. Ed Russell of Lexington, Ky. They were invited into the dining room, where the table was overlaid with a green cloth and centered with a styrofoam star which has candles and white roses at each of its five points. Fruit cake, mints, nuts, and coffee were served with the tiny Santa Claus nut cups given as favors.

For the entertainment, Miss Moore was attired in a blue tulle dress. Her white corsage was a blend of tiny wedding bells and styrofoam balls.

Yuletide decorations in the traditional tree, and greenery and berries on the mantle. In the dining room, the serving table was centered with an arrangement which had been sprayed gold as well as red and white candles in brass.

TV HER RIVAL

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: That old line, "What fools we mortals be," is still true. Before my marriage I used to rave to the girls about my husband-to-be; so considerate, kind, thoughtful and so forth. The perfect mate!

Once we settled down to home life I soon saw that he was married to TV, not me. He makes straight for the television set when he comes from work and there he sits as if hypnotized, without so much as a grunt in my direction.

His indifference has killed all interest in preparing meals for him. At supper he says, "I'm not hungry," or "This doesn't taste right," or "That's cold," shoves the plate back and returns to TV. If the food is cold, it's because I've had to call him 10 times before he could be pried loose from that Pandora's box.

He's really a good man at heart. He doesn't beat me, drink or chase, but I'm at my wits' end trying to get him to act as a full-time husband and not a TV buff. The only joy and love in my life is our three-month old son. We've been married less than two yrs. I shudder to think what it will be like in 10 years. Open to helpful suggestions. —Harried Housewife

Bride-to-Be

Dear Baffled: It is entirely proper to be married in our fiancée's church, since we are of the same faith. Ask his father to talk with our mother about this. The wa might be further smoothed if our transferred our membership to our fiancée's church now for, in all likelihood, he'll be going there with him after our marriage.

Send our problem to Helen Worden Erskine care of this newspaper. Be sure to enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope. Helpful leaflets available, write for "To Marry — or Wait."

Dear Harried: Yours is a real problem for Teveevitis can be a disease. To cure it you must be both astute and firm. Work out a schedule with our husband, allowing so much time to TV and no more. Appeal to his sense of fair play. He'll probably see the light if you speak frankly but affectionately. If this fails, drastic steps may be necessary to jar him loose, even to disconnecting

TV Seems All Out for Medical Show

B CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - Television entertainment these days is getting deeper and deeper in medical themes.

Sunday night, even good old "Bonanza" had a hero who was a dedicated frontier doctor who watched him pour, in the classic manner, ether in a cone and have his brow mopped as he did a little lung surgery on one of the Ponderosa boys. The hangman's rope awaited him outside the surgery but his hand was as steady as a rock - that's dedication.

This was followed immediately on NBC by "The Ordeal of Doctor Shannon." I never read the A. J. Cronin novel from which it was allegedly adopted, but the television Doctor Shannon was a dedicated research man raging in an epidemic around him.

The rather fuzzy point of the shapeless and wandering story seemed to be that too much dedication to vaccine interferes with romance - something I already had picked up from Drs. Casey and Killdare.

I'm sorry to say I'm getting a little tired of doctor shows. And that includes the mandatory spoof of "Ben Casey" by a comic on every variety show every week.

Dinah Shore has Bing Crosby for her guest star on her Feb. 17 show. Incidentally, Alan Handley, who produced those 15-minute Dinah Shore shows in the good old days before Dinah expanded to an hour, will produce the Jan. 20 program. Guest stars are Liberace and Peter Nero, both pianists but quite different in their approaches to the instrument.

John Larkin, the hero in the CBS soap opera, "Edge of Night" for five years, and the good, gray city editor in NBC's current but cancelled "Saints and Sinners," is going to upset his fans, who are legion. He'll be the villain who actually shoots Marshal Dillon in the Jan. 5 episode of "Gunsmoke." (He played the killer once in a "Perry Mason" episode, which must have confused some people, because he was the voice of radio's "Perry Mason" for seven years.)

Business Confidence Warms Some

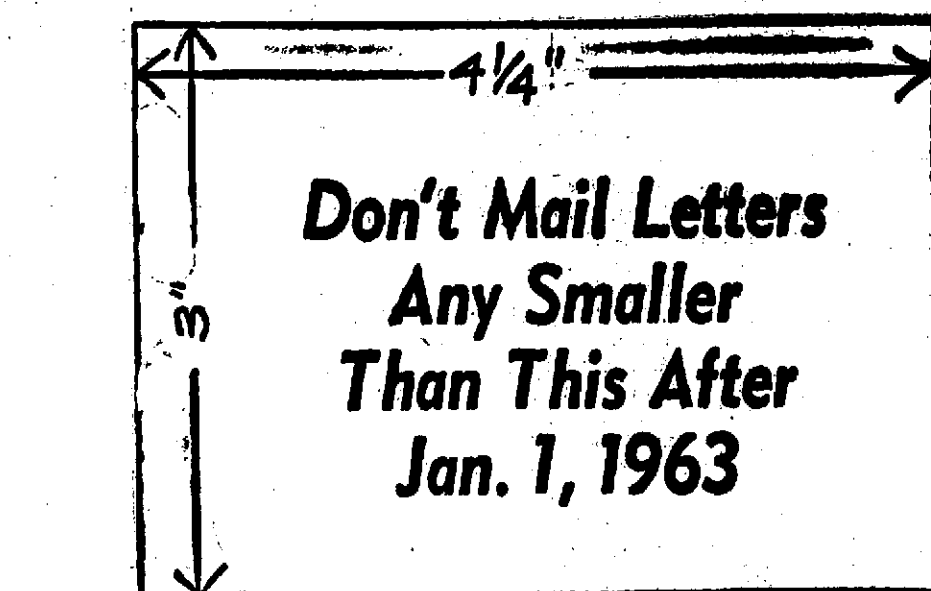

B SAM DAWSON AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) - The cold figures stay all but frozen but business confidence is warming up notably.

The statistics show industrial output at the same record level for four months now and total production of goods and services all but unchanged. The more personal figures - employment, individual incomes and consumption, saving and spending - hold at their high level. But they don't rise as many would like to see.

Still business sentiment has improved in recent weeks. And so have the forecasts for the coming year.

Belief that the economy would turn up rather than down showed up first in the stock market. Rising prices represented many things - belief that the Cuban crisis held promise of better days on the international political scene; prospect of more spending for defense, nonetheless; interpretation of administration tax cutting and Teensie-Weensie letters are out after Jan. 1, 1963. Minimum size Post Office will accept: 3 inches deep, and 4 1/4 inches long.

spending plans as meaning a larger federal deficit and perhaps another round of inflation; and the expectation that both the consumer and the businessman would loosen their purse strings, with the Cuban War scare out of the way.

Rising stock prices bolstered confidence generally. But the same factors back of the market boom made many businessmen decide that 1963 was less likely to see a downturn in the economy than they had thought a few weeks back.

Those who still look for an easing in the business pace in the early weeks of the new year now expect it to be along normal seasonal lines, with an upswing to follow. Only a few nay-sayers still expect a recession by midyear.

Much of the new confidence is based on the belief that the administration and the Congress will work out some form of tax relief - and reasonably early in the upcoming session.

A cut in the corporate income tax rate would give companies the more net income to spend for new equipment or for bigger dividends. New rules for depreciation write-offs for tax purposes work toward the same end.

Lower rates on personal incomes would give individuals more money to spend - to the benefit of business for more money to save, thus building up institutional funds that business can tap when it wants to borrow.

So, at the end of this year, business is looking ahead to another year of at least modest growth - far better than the recession many feared after the stock market break at the end of May.

Thieves Figure

NEW YORK (AP) - Three thieves figured out this prescription for mass robbery in a doctor's office:

They tied up the physician, his nurse and receptionist, then forced the receptionist to call out the names of patients seated in the waiting room. All 11 patients were bound and robbed, one by one, as they entered the inner office.

The Negro robbers' two with guns and one with a knife, got about $600 in cash and $300 in jewelry from Dr. Thomas H. Amos, his nurse, the receptionist and the patients in the physician's Harlem office Monday.

Bloodshed Feared in Katanga

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The United Nations claimed today that Katanga air activity seriously and immediately threatened to lead to bloodshed.

A U.N. spokesman said that U.N. forces had no intention of starting a third round of fighting in the breakaway province but they would retaliate if attacked. Military observers here accused Katangans of dropping crude bombs that held up for a month the seizure of the north Katanga rail center of Kongolo by central Congolese forces early in December.

Packers Get 8 on NFL All-Stars

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Eight members of the Green Bay Packers were named today on the Western Division squad which will meet the Eastern Division of the National Football League in the annual Pro Bowl game here Jan. 13.

The squad was selected by the Western loop coaches. The Eastern team, which included eight New York Giants, was announced two days ago.

The Detroit Lions placed seven men on the Western team, Baltimore five, the Chicago Bears and Los Angeles Rams four each, San Francisco three and Minnesota one.

The West leads in the series 8-4.

Faulkner Is AFL Coach of the Year

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Faulkner, an assistant to Sid Gillman for 13 years at Cincinnati, San Diego and Los Angeles, made good on his own with the Denver Broncos in 1962 and today was named Coach-of-the-Year in the American Football League. The selection was made by The Associated Press by a committee of sports writers and broadcasters from the eight league cities.

Although the Broncos faltered in the stretch and lost five in a row after winning seven of their first nine games, Faulkner did a man-sized job in his first year at Denver.

Frank Tripucka's passing to Lionel Taylor and Bo Dickinson and the work of Gene Mingo, who led the league in scoring with 137 points, gave the Broncos a solid punch. They were the mid-season sensations until they lost to Boston in mid-November and then went into a tailspin that saw them drop two to Dallas and one each to Houston and New York, and wind up second in the Western Division. The defeat by the Titans on Thanksgiving Day, 46-45, was particularly disheartening before the home fans. The Broncos finally finished at 7-7, three games behind Dallas.

Faulkner, 36, made several deals after taking over as successor to Frank Filchock. At Miami of Ohio, Faulkner played with Paul Dietzel, present Army coach, and Ara Parseghian, Northwestern coach. He joined Gillman at the University of Cincinnati and moved with him as defensive backfield coach to the Los Angeles Rams and then on to the Los Angeles Chargers, now San Diego.

Drysdale Is Winner of Young Award

CINCINNATI (AP)—The several good reasons Don Drysdale was named winner of the Cy Young award as the major league's outstanding pitcher in 1962 are reflected today in the release of the official National League pitching records.

Drysdale, big Los Angeles Dodger right-hander, led the NL in five categories: Games won—25; strikeouts—232; innings pitched—314; games started—41 and total batsmen faced—1,289.

The Dodgers' workhorse finished fourth in earned run average with 2.84. The ERA total was won by Drysdale's teammate, lefty Sandy Koufax, who compiled a 2.54 mark. Bob Shaw of Milwaukee was the runner-up at 2.80 and Cincinnati's Bob Purkey was third with 2.81.

Koufax yielded 52 earned runs in 184 innings while winning 14 games and losing seven. He was sidelined for two months with a finger injury.

Purkey and Joey Jay of Cincinnati and Jack Sanford of San Francisco were the only others to win at least 20 games. Sanford had 24 victories, Purkey 23 and Jay 21. Purkey had the highest win-loss percentage, .821 on a 23-5 record.

Veteran Warren Spahn of Milwaukee failed to win at least 20 games for the first time in seven years. However, the crafty southpaw, who picked up 18 victories in '62, pitched 22 complete games to lead in this department for the sixth straight campaign.

Cincy Cagers Better Watch Davidson

By BEN OLAN Associated Press Sports Writer
Cincinnati's top-ranked college basketball team had better watch out. The upset-hungry Davidson Wildcats may be loaded for Bearcat.

It's a sure thing Cincinnati, which has won 24 in a row and has a date with Dayton Thursday, will be more respectful when the teams meet on the Bearcats' court Saturday.

Because, Tuesday night, Davidson turned in one of the major upsets of the young campaign by knocking off second-ranked Duke 72-69 at Charlotte, N.C.

The setback was the Blue Devils' first in seven games and lifted Davidson's record to 5-1. Duke had won 52 of the 59 previous meetings between the teams including one by a 76-68 count three weeks ago.

Fred Hetzel and Bill Jarman sparked a tremendous team effort. Hetzel scored 27 points and Jarman 21. Art Heyman and Jeff Mullins each had 21 for Duke.

In other top games, sixth-ranked Colorado defeated Creighton 76-55; Vanderbilt routed Louisville 95-72; Memphis State upset Minnesota 78-70; UCLA beat Butler 81-69; Wake Forest came from behind to defeat Virginia 78-73; Oklahoma trounced Texas Tech 85-62 and Stanford edged Oregon 54-51.

Elsewhere, Tulsa set a school scoring record in defeating Adams State College of Colorado 107-54 at Tulsa; Oklahoma City downed North Texas State 79-63 at Denton, Tex.; Cornell romped over Syracuse 93-77 at Ithaca, N.Y.

At Worcester, Mass., Holy Cross walloped St. Anselm's 85-64 and Rhode Island ran up its highest score in a decade while trouncing New Hampshire 121-92 at Kingston, R.I.

Two Released in Santa Claus Killing

MONTREAL (AP) — Canadians sought for questioning in the "Santa Claus" gang killing of two policemen in a bank robbery surrendered Sunday, was questioned by police for an hour, then released.

The Canadian, Yvon Duquette, 32, was described by police as a well-known figure in the Montreal underworld. They declined to give any details of the questioning or his release.

The surrender came as about 2,000 police pushed one of Montreal's biggest manhunters for the four-man gang, that looted a bank in suburban St. Laurent of $2,000 Friday. Armed with rifles, the gang shot down the two constables as they drew up in front of the bank.

One of the four were a Santa Claus suit. The other three were masked. Police said the man in the Santa Claus suit pumped bullets from an automatic rifle into the two constables after they were wounded in the first burst of fire from the fleeing robbers. Two other policemen, in another car, were wounded by gunfire.

The two slain patrolmen, Claude Marneau, 34, and Denis Brabant, 31, had answered an alarm from the bank, a branch of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce. They will be buried at a civic funeral Tuesday.

Police worked around the clock on the killings. They raided known underworld haunts and checked every lead. Scores of off-duty policemen returned to take part in the manhunt.

The getaway car was found Friday night at Mount Royal, another Montreal suburb adjoining St. Laurent. It contained the Santa Claus suit and about $10,000 worth of non-negotiable bonds taken from the bank. The car was punctured by bullets fired by Marneau.

Brabant was shot down when he jumped from the police car and had no chance to fire. Marneau managed to fire four shots before he was riddled by the man in the Santa Claus suit, police reported.

Wild man. He led in bases on balls, 107 and wild pitches, 22. Teammate Art Mahaffey, a 19-game winner, permitted the most homers, 36.

Bob Friend of Pittsburgh and Bob Gibson of St. Louis, both right-handers, set the pace in shutouts with five apiece.

Pittsburgh had the lowest collective earned run average, 3.38. St. Louis was next with 3.55 and Los Angeles third 3.61.

Mexicans Go for Davis Tennis Cup

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—We have come to take the Davis Cup back to Mexico.

That was the warning sounded by Pancho Contreras, Mexican Davis Cup captain, who brought his team to Brisbane today for the challenge round tennis match against Australia Dec. 26-28.

Contreras made his remarks at a mayor's reception for the rival teams at the Town Hall.

"We already have staged a series of upsets and we think we can pull off another," Contreras said.

Harry Hopman, the Australian captain, told a large gathering at Mayor Clem Jones' reception that Mexico had a strong team which could not be taken lightly.

Moss Likely Successor to Adams

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today the name of A. J. (Red) Moss was one of four or five he had received in recommendations for a successor to Welfare Commissioner Carl Adams, who will retire Dec. 31.

Moss has been Adams' chief assistant for more than seven years. He was welfare commissioner for two years under Gov. Francis Cherry.

Faubus said he had "no idea at this time" who the new commissioner would be. He did indicate when he might make the appointment.

However, he indicated he expected his new commissioner to look sideways at a federal provision which limits the amount welfare clients can earn and still be eligible for a full grant.

Under the law, the first $10 earned does not affect the grant, then half of the next $40 earned is exempt, but if a client earns

Few Escape Successfully

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Border guards of Communist East Germany manage to foil 10 attempted escapes for every successful flight through the walled and barbed wire border around West Berlin.

That was reported today by Bruno Krajewski, a former East German major who 10 days ago made a dramatic escape in an inflated rubber boat with his wife, 9-year-old daughter and two friends.

Krajewski, who had the job of investigating escapes and advising how to tighten the border, said most arrests were made in the controlled area behind the border.

"Relatively few people are caught on the barbed wire barricades themselves," he added. "Most people who get that far manage to get away."

He said chances of a successful escape are steadily dwindling. He discussed the border situation with newsmen at a news conference arranged by Western security authorities under whose protection he has been since his escape.

Indoor Track Meet Planned

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—The first indoor track meet in the history of the Southeastern Conference will be held during the Coliseum Relays in Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 16, SEC Commissioner Bernie Moore said today.

All 12 conference schools are expected to send representatives.

$50, he will lose $20 from the grant. Anything earned over $50 is deducted.

Faubus said he would favor a flat $50 exemption.

The governor said passage by Congress of a law which granted some exemption was "one of the most encouraging recent developments in the welfare field."

But he said he would continue to work for increasing the exemptions. "And we're not going to check too closely on earnings above that amount either," he said.

Heavyweight Elimination Suggested

TORONTO (AP)—Champion Sonny Liston, although he said he didn't think the best of them, would last two rounds with him, Tuesday night suggested a heavy weight round-robin series involving himself, former champions Floyd Patterson and Ingemar Johansson and brash Cassius Clay.

Liston, appearing on Canadian television, said the best idea would be for promoters to match him against Johansson and Patterson against Clay.

The winners of these two bouts would then meet for the title, he said.

Liston ran all three of them down, however.

He said he doubted the public could be sold on a rematch with Patterson following his one-round knockout of the former champion.

"People listen to his mouth, but they don't watch him fight," Liston said of Clay, the talkative challenger whose last victory was a "call-your-shot" fourth round KO of ancient Archie Moore.

"Johansson is the outstanding boy right now," said Liston, but he said he didn't think the Swede would last two rounds against him.

The champion said he did not doubt that a $1 million offer by Johansson's advisor, Edwin Ahlquest, to meet the Swede in Stockholm was legitimate.

"Ah!quest has that kind of money and even if he doesn't, Johansson could put it up himself," said Liston. "He was rich when he came over here and he got richer."

Liston said another obstacle to a rematch with Patterson is the money owed him from the first fight. He said the promoters failed to live up to their contract by paying him half his purse—$185,000—within 48 hours of the fight. He got only $100,000. The other half was to be held in escrow pending the second fight.

The U.S. government seized the receipts because of tax problems. Liston said Clay has yet to prove his right to a title bout. He

Gilchrist No. 1 Choice for AFL

NEW YORK (AP)—Cookie Gilchrist, a traveling man who was the first player to run for 1,000 yards in the American Football League, is the Player-of-the-Year in the three-year-old pro loop.

An Associated Press committee of writers and broadcasters from the eight league cities named the 245-pound fullback of the Buffalo Bills Tuesday.

"That's wonderful. The man deserves it," said Bills' coach Lou Saban.

Gilchrist spent nine years in Canadian football, playing with five teams in three leagues, before he found a home with the Bills last season.

"He helped bring the Bills from the bottom to near the top," said Saban.

The bruising fullback, now 27, went directly from high school to the Canadian League in 1954, when he was 19. He was finally waived out of that league by the Toronto Argonauts, with a reputation of being hard to handle.

The Bills reportedly paid him $20,000, and got their money's worth. Saban said Gilchrist has not signed his 1963 contract, and the honor "only makes it more difficult."

Gilchrist received 13 of the 24 votes cast by the AP committee. Len Dawson, the 27-year-old quarterback who led the Dallas Texans to the Western Division title, drew eight votes for second spot.

sadi he thought Clay would draw well against Patterson, however.
